ACTIVITY

Now you have investigated the case study and worked out what happened to Jesse, Xander and Chloe, it's now time to create an impact map of your choice of three characters. You might want to choose characters that have different experiences from each other and therefore feel a different sense of impact on their day to day life and future.

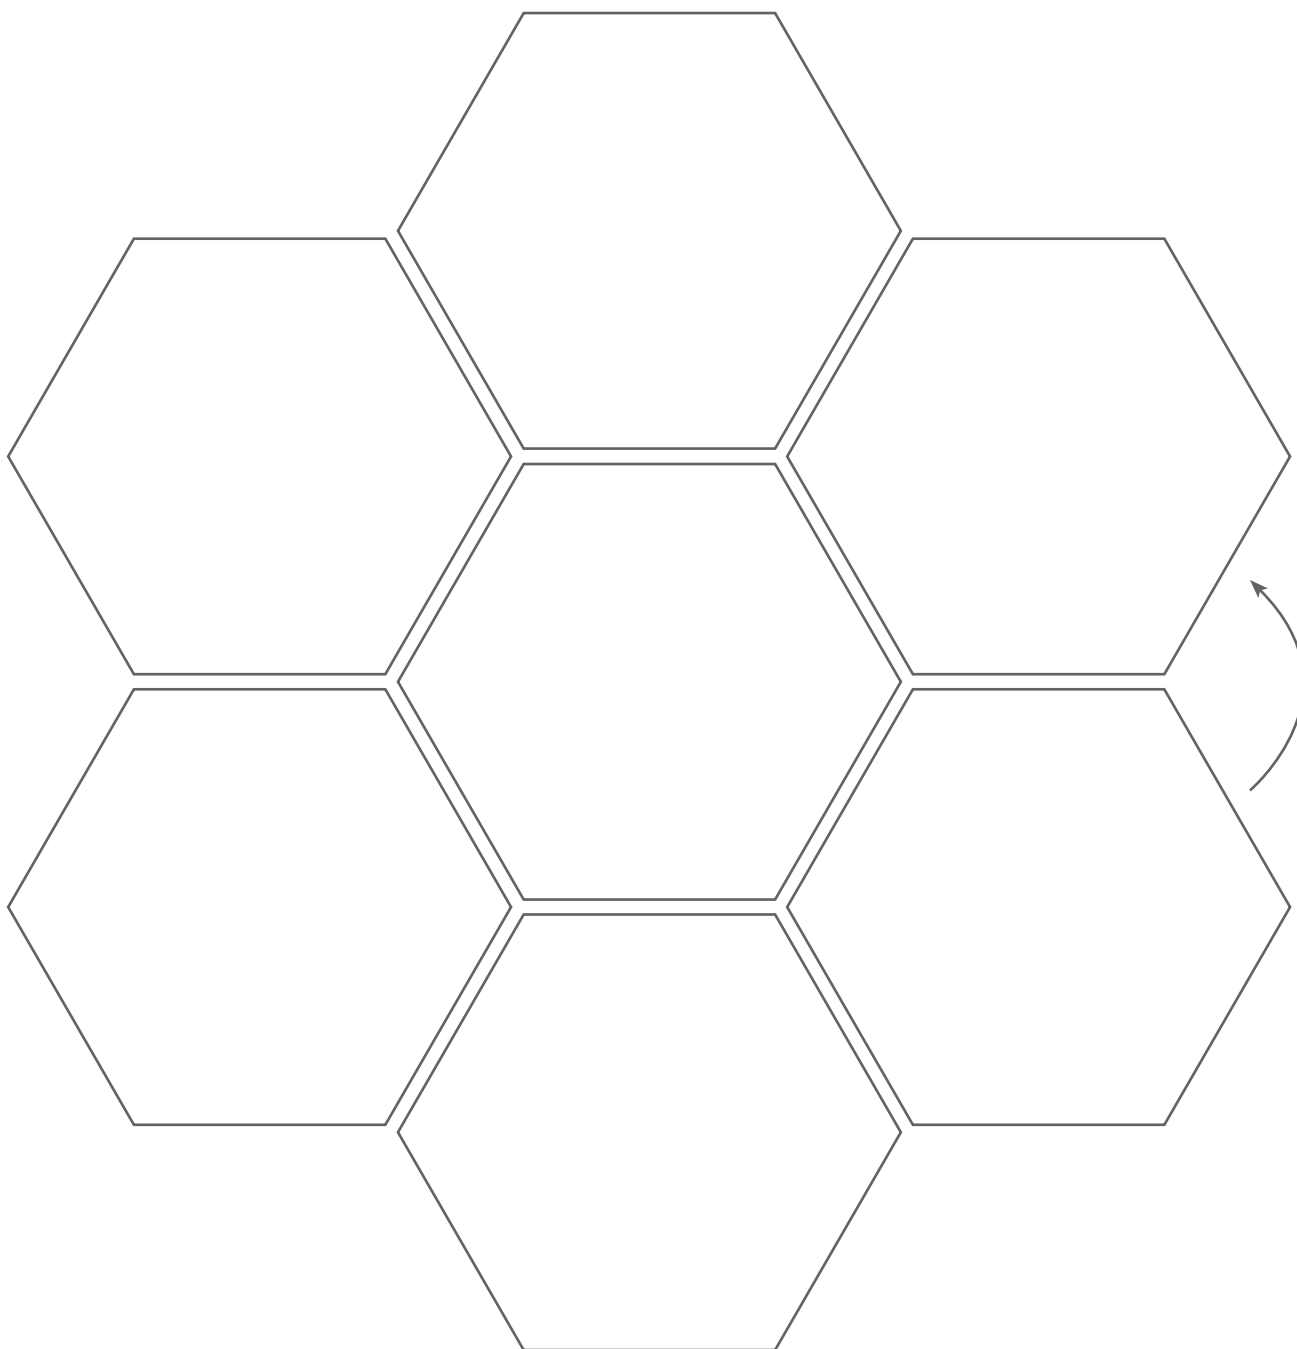

You might want to consider the state of their mental, educational and financial health. What about their relationships with friends and family? Will the accident impact their trust levels or even their confidence?

Write your chosen character in the central shape. Consider their personality carefully and write one area of impact in each box.
